CLAIM

What is claimed is:

A naked chip motherboard module, comprising a motherboard, said motherboard being a printed circuit board, on the motherboard having several regional spaces, each regional space having an accommodating chamber to accommodate a chip, with connecting pins for the chip in each regional space, so that after each chip is recorded and each regional space is cut and separated, a plurality of chip modules can be obtained for direct connection with circuit boards as required.

10